HIMSS® AsiaPac07 Conference & Exhibition

In association with CHIK Services

A New Health IT Conference for the Asia Pacific Region

The dynamic economic and social growth in the Asia Pacific region has clearly demonstrated strategic opportunities for the health informatics industry worldwide. As countries in the region become more affluent and populous, the demand for improved healthcare delivery and patient care is growing rapidly.

HIMSS sees this as an exciting opportunity to extend its leadership role and assist in the development of health IT knowledge, skills and capabilities within the region.

Working with CHIK Services Australia and leading organizations throughout the Asia Pacific region, HIMSS is pleased to announce its plans to launch an annual Asia Pacific health IT conference. The first conference will be held May 15-18, 2007, in Singapore, Asia.

The Conference Focus and Its Partners

This unique event will connect leading clinicians with health information and communication technology experts from Asia and beyond for educational sessions, vendor exhibitions, interoperability demonstrations, exchange of experiences and networking sessions, and other professional development opportunities.

HIMSS is delighted to be working with host nation Singapore and key regional supporters, including the Asia Pacific Association of Medical Informatics and the Hong Kong Hospital Authority.

In recognition of the crucial role that organisations such as ASEAN (Association of South East Asian Nations), the Asia Development Bank (ADB) and the World Health Organization (WHO), play in driving regional development, steps are also being taken to include these organisations in the planning and execution.

An Advisory Board and Organising Committee, comprised of industry leaders, will be established to develop the education programme and identify keynote speakers.

A Call for Papers will be launched in June 2006 to invite presenters to submit papers per the topic categories and tracks established by the Organising Committee.
